Leader Dog to Retire After Traumatic Experience

*By Dawn Thompson
Boone Lions Club*

Some of you may know, and some may not, what happened this past July 4th near our home. Just a block away, neighbors were hosting a block party to celebrate the holiday. Everything was fine until after dark when the fireworks began.

A few small fireworks are usually manageable, but then came the very loud whistling ones with big booms. My husband Jeremy quickly told me to leash my trained service dog, Millie, and take her outside before the next one went off. Unfortunately, as soon as she had her head and front paws out the door, another firework exploded. It startled her so badly that she bolted back inside, trembling.

That moment left her traumatized. Millie refused to go near the kitchen door, and for over 13 hours, she wouldn't go outside at all. I reached out to my instructor in a panic, explaining what happened. Together, we brainstormed ideas, but we knew some of them might not fully align with the organization's guidelines. My instructor later arranged for a field representative to come work with us, with the hope of helping Millie rebuild her confidence.

Unfortunately, despite weeks of working together, there hasn't been any progress. After many difficult conversations with my instructor, we made the heartbreaking decision to retire Millie from guide work. I am now in the process of starting over—completing a 15-page application, recording three required videos, and attending medical appointments—so that I can get back on the list for another Leader Dog. The waiting period could be 12 to 18 months.

What hurts the most is that this all happened just days before our two-year anniversary as a team on July 12. Millie and I had worked so hard since our training in August 2023 to build trust and independence together.

FORCIBLY RETIRED. Leader Dog Millie is no longer able to serve as a guide dog because of a traumatic experience with loud fireworks on the Fourth of July.

I want to be clear—I'm not against celebrating the 4th of July. It's a wonderful tradition. But I ask that people please be mindful. Fireworks can deeply affect veterans and others with PTSD, as well as trained service dogs who are critical to their handlers' independence and safety.

Because of this, I've been considering posting a sign near my home that says:

"Trained Service Dog in Area"

A little awareness can make a big difference—for people and for service animals who give us our independence every day.

Leader Dogs for the Blind received my videos and application for a Leader Dog and all my medical paperwork is filled out and signed by the doctors. It could take 4-6 weeks before they look at it and call me to tell me I'm approved for a Leader Dog, and another 12-18 months until I will be matched and go into training.

Even though I don't have a Leader Dog right now, I will still be doing Leader Dog Presentations.

The Early Times (or Before Zirm) Part 1

By PDG Bill Shuttters

Give Sight, Give Love Chair

Many of you remember watching “The Six Million Dollar Man” or “The Bionic Woman” TV shows back in the late 1970s, where Steve Austin is totally rebuilt at a cost of $6 million after his spacecraft crashes and Jamie Summers almost died while skydiving but was rebuilt for an undisclosed price.

Or “Star Wars: Episode V – The Empire Strikes Back” where Luke Skywalker loses his hand in a light saber duel with Darth Vader. Medical droid 2-1B provides him with a new bionic hand, which functions like his former hand. We readily accepted without question replacing human body parts. This represented a change in paradigm and an advancement in technology.

From the dawn of time, humans have suffered the loss of the function of a limb or organ through accident, violence or disease. Their options were limited: do nothing, amputation or a crude prosthetic.

As people developed their cultural myths and legends, the monsters created were often an amalgamation of parts of other animals which threatened their lives, such as a lion’s head, a goat’s body and a serpent’s tail. The Greeks developed these creatures in Homer’s Illiad and called them chimera. In their environment there may have been animals which looked like they were made by assembling parts of different animals, such as a wildebeest or an okapi (looks like it was made from a giraffe, a zebra and a solid color bovine). The idea of a transplant was a logical progression. This has led to mixing of fact, fiction and vision to arrive where we are today.

The first written record of a transplant was a skin graft for treatment of a severe burn in the Ebers Papyrus (circa 1550 BC), an Egyptian medical papyrus. In 600 BC, the Indian surgeon Sushruta, known as the “father of surgery,” is credited with performing the first plastic surgery using full thickness skin grafts. (The skin being the largest organ, this could be viewed as the first organ transplant.)

Fourth century BC Chinese texts claim the eminent Chinese surgeon, Tsin Yue-Jin, exchanged the hearts of two soldiers, one endowed with a strong will but weak in spirit and the other conversely affected.

Stories of the methods of the Egyptian and Indian procedures of skin grafting made their way back to Greece and Italy by way of students and traveling physicians and surgeons.

In the ancient world, slicing off one’s nose was a common punishment for adultery, treason and a few other offenses. This caused the person to become a social outcast and unfit to hold a public office. The injured person and their family often desired for social reasons to have the nose or any facial injury repaired. Greek surgeons performed many rhinoplasties using the Egyptian and Indian procedures. Greek and Roman physicians and surgeons had a battery of surgical instruments to perform a wide variety of surgeries.

In the 1st century AD Aurelius Cornelius Celsus wrote De Medicina, which described a number of procedures and skin flaps to repair ears, noses and lips. In the 2nd century the Roman surgeon Claudius Galen described a number of procedures for repair of facial injuries with local tissue flaps. His work formed the basis of the Galen Doctrine, which guided medical education and practice until the Middle Ages. Roman and Greek surgeons performed cataract surgery. Galen proposed the original concept of “abrasion cornea” (cornea transplantation) as a treatment to restore corneal transparency. He left no record of attempting the procedure.

In the early 3rd century AD, twin brothers Cosmas and Damian were born in Arabia and practiced medicine and surgery in Syria without charging a fee. Their charity and healing converted many to Christianity. This brought them fame and to the attention of Diocletian (circa 287) who had a campaign of persecuting Christians. He arrested Cosmas and Damian and their three brothers, subjecting them to severe tortures which they survived. He then beheaded them. They are the patron saints of clinical medicine, surgery and pharmacy.

But the story doesn’t end here. In 348 AD, Jacobus da Varagine wrote a text Legenda Aurea (Golden Legend) that contained a story “The Miracle of the Black Leg.” The story states that in Rome a verger (a layman who helps with church services) had a leg with a cancer that was consuming it. One night he had a dream that Cosmas and Damian appeared, amputated his diseased leg and transplanted the leg of an Ethiopian Moor who had been recently buried in the churchyard.

The man recounted the story when he awoke and an Ethiopian man was discovered to be missing a leg. This “cure” has been portrayed by many artists. Many of the paintings show a lack of anatomical knowledge. In one painting, the artist painted the transplanted leg white. After the artist’s death, another artist noted the defect and conspired with the original artist’s son and widow to paint the leg black. The brothers are now included in the litany of saints in the Catholic Eucharistic Prayer 1 and credited with performing the first human leg transplant.

It would be reasonable to doubt that many of these surgeries occurred or were successful. Many were performed in the absence of sterile conditions, since the discoveries of Joseph Lister and Louis Pasteur were unknown. In many cases, unless the donor tissue came from the patient or an identical twin, the operation failed because of what the 16th century Italian physician and plastic surgeon Gasparo Tagliacozzi called transplant rejection.

Corneal transplantation, on the other hand, did not have the problem of transplant rejection from unrelated donors.

In 1590 Hans and Zacharias Janssen invented a microscope. In the mid 17th century the Dutch microbiologist Antonie van Leeuwenhoek developed an improved microscope and observed the cornea.

In 1789 the French surgeon Guillaume Pellier de Quengsy published the first paper on ophthalmology during the French Revolution. It contained the first description of a keratoprosthesis. In his work he suggested that transparent material could be used to replace a clouded cornea and restore vision.

English physician Erasmus Darwin (grandfather of Charles Darwin) devised in 1776 the first trephine, a hole saw used in surgery to remove a circular piece of tissue, but he did not patent his inventions. He suggested that a small piece of cornea could be cut with a trephine and be replaced by a healthy piece of cornea tissue which would heal with a transparent scar.

During the Napoleonic Wars, French and British soldiers fighting Egypt contracted Egyptian ophthalmia (trachoma), a chronic bacterial eye infection caused by the chlamydia trachomatis bacterium. Repeated infections of trachoma leads to scarring of the eyelids, causing them to turn inward and rub against the cornea causing vision loss or blindness. When the soldiers returned from Egypt, the disease became widespread in Europe, since it can be transmitted by an infected person or flies.

Today the treatment for trachoma is antibiotics or surgery. At that time surgery was the only option to cure blindness. This resulted in ophthalmology becoming a surgical subspecialty.

German ophthalmologist Karl Gustav Himley and his student Frantz Reisinger investigated in 1813 using donor corneas from animals to transplant in other animals. They suggested the use of donor corneas from animals for transplant in humans. All of their experiments resulted in failure. They did coin the term keratoplasty, which means surgery to the cornea. If the entire cornea is replaced, it is called penetrating keratoplasty and partial replacement of some of the layers of the cornea is lamellar keratoplasty.

Prussian physician and surgeon Johann Fredrich Dieffenbach was a plastic and reconstructive surgeon who established the modern techniques for rhinoplasty and maxillofacial surgery. In 1839, he also performed surgery on patients with strabismus, a condition where the eyes do not properly align with each other. He was also interested in blood transfusion. In the process, he investigated penetrating keratoplasty in a variety of animal species. After repeated failures, he described corneal transplantation as “one of the most audacious fantasies” and stated it “would be the highest reward of surgery if this operation succeeded.”

In 1835, Irish surgeon Samuel Bigger was traveling near Cairo, Egypt when a war erupted. He was abducted and held for ransom. He had his medical bag with instruments with him when captured. Someone’s pet gazelle was suffering from blindness caused by corneal scarring. While being held captive, he performed the first reported successful keratoplasty allograft (a transplant between two non-identical members of the same species) on the pet gazelle. The donor was another gazelle near death. The operation was successful with the gazelle regaining its vision and the upper portion of the transplanted cornea remaining transparent.

In 1838 American ophthalmologist Richard Kissam, a member of the New York aristocracy, performed the first recorded corneal xenograft (a transplant of tissue from one species to another species) on a young Irish lad. The donor was a 6-month old pig. The surgery was unsuccessful. The 19th century ended with ophthalmologist debating allografts versus xenografts.

This brings us to 1905, with an Austrian ophthalmologists practicing in Olmutz, Czechoslovakia. He operated on a farm laborer blinded by quicklime while cleaning a chicken coop and a young boy whose eyes had been pierced by steel shards.

The story continues in Part 2 in a later issue.

Last Call - 990N IRS Filing

All Lions clubs and districts that have annual gross receipts less than $50,000 per year must file the 990N e-postcard. It takes less than five minutes to complete online. If you don't file it each year, your club can be charged a hefty fine from the Internal Revenue Service.

Veteran's Day is November 11

Please remember to thank every veteran for our freedom. Pray for the men and women currently serving our country. Military families also deserve our thanks for their support and sacrifices. Post a thank you on your Facebook page.

November is a perfect time for your club to have a diabetes service project. Nov. 14 is World Diabetes Day. One easy project is to organize a Strides Walk for Diabetes Awareness in your community.

Put on your winter coats and scarves and walk together outdoors in your city park or downtown area.

Publicize it in the local newspaper and town Facebook page.

November is Eye Donation Month

The Iowa Lions Eye Bank completes dozens of cornea transplants each year. They need donations throughout the year.

Be sure to register as an organ donor when you get your drivers license. YOU can give the gift of sight. Thank you!

Preparations for USA/Canada Lions Forum in Memphis, Tennessee

Just four weeks after the completion of the 2025 Forum in Atlantic City, New Jersey, the 2026 Forum Planning Committee met at the Renasant Convention Center in Memphis, Tennessee for our only onsite inspection of all the facilities for 2026.

We will be celebrating the Forum's 50-year anniversary. Get ready for LOTS of great music and reminiscing! We completed ALL the work for the seminar sessions, including the seminar topics, facilitators, moderators, and room assignments. We also determined room locations for the General Sessions, Forum Store, Exhibitors, Peace Poster and Pin Trader exhibits, as well as smaller meetings like the Midwest Breakfast.

All the events (meals, seminars, store, and service project) will be in the convention center. The headquarters hotel is in the Sheraton, just across the street from the convention center, connected by a skywalk.

Online 2026 Forum registration is available NOW. You can also volunteer ONLINE to help at the 2026 Forum. Follow the link and fill out the form as to the days and areas where you'd like to help. If you are unable to click on the links in this paragraph, look in the red navigation bar at LionsForum.org for both.

Four Iowans are serving on the 2026 Planning Committee: Ardie Klemish is General Chair, Debbie Doty is Marketing Chair, Chris Waring is Strides/Service Project Chair, and Ken Klemish is on the transportation team.

Congratulations Lions, MD9 Iowa Lions' membership is continuing to grow. Tonight when I looked, the Multiple District 9 membership is +70 and every district has positive growth. One district brought back a club and another district has a new club. Lions lets continue to grow our state membership.

There has been a change with the state treasurer. In September, I accepted the resignation of our state treasurer. I was quite fortunate to find a new temporary treasurer within 45 minutes of the state office. PDG Doug Welton is serving as interim treasurer while we search for a new state treasurer. Doug has worked hard to get all of the bills paid, deposits made, grant application paperwork completed and bookwork up-to-date within about seven days.

Please note there is a help wanted ad for the state treasurer in this magazine. The plan is to interview candidates in December with the Council of Governors approving a candidate at the January 2026 Council of Governors meeting.

I want to thank all Lions for their patience while waiting for bills and expense requests to be paid.

The "Give Sight Give Love" grant application for equipment needs at the Iowa Lions Eye Bank was submitted to LCIF at the end of September 2025. I want to thank all of the Lions who worked to raise the money for the matching grant. It was a pleasure to sign the application for MD9.

I made the trip to Audubon, Iowa, for the Yip-Yo Palooza event. Thanks to Past District Governor Allen Zobel and his crew for getting this event set-up and providing the food for this free event.

I had the pleasure of walking between the speakers taking pictures. After the event, I asked numerous Lions what they thought of it. All I heard was great responses about the speakers and the event. There were even Nebraska Lions who made the trip to attend. They, too, thought highly of the event.

At this time PDG Chris Waring, MD9 LCIF Coordinator Bernadette Lane and I are working to try to set-up one of these events on the eastern side of the state. Watch future issues of The Iowa Lion magazine for the date and location of Yip-Yo Palooza on the eastern side of the state.

Talking about upcoming events, have you signed up for the 50th Lions Clubs International USA/Canada Forum in Memphis, Tennessee yet? My paperwork to sign-up to attend this event is filled out and will go out this weekend. Memphis, Tennessee, is an easy drive for us Lions from Iowa. I hope to see many of the Iowa Lions at this event in September 2026.

Upcoming events that I am scheduled to attend include the District EC Fall Rally Nov. 1; District NE and NC Convention in Cedar Falls Nov. 15; the 75th Anniversary of the West Branch Lions Club in December, plus the date-to-be announced for the newly-chartered Lions club in LeClaire.

Another upcoming event is the Peace Poster Contest. I hope to start receiving the District Peace Poster winners very soon. Once I have them, I will have the State Peace Poster Contest winner selected and forwarded on to LCI for the next level of competition.

Also coming up Nov. 15, 2025 is the due date for the Club 990 Tax Returns being completed. I recently checked with our State Treasurer Doug Welton and he informed me the Lions of Iowa tax return is completed and submitted. The Iowa Lions Foundation tax return is currently being completed and filed soon there after. Please make sure you get your club's or district's 990 tax return is filed before the Nov. 15 deadline.

Please continue the good work on growing our membership here in Iowa!

Whew... What a road trip! We are just back from the USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum in Atlantic City. This was my first Forum and it will not be my last. An exciting time spent networking with fellow Lions, learning new things, socializing, and just having a fun time. So many interesting seminars to choose from over the course of the Forum. The speakers at the two evening banquets were amazing.

Former professional baseball player Warren Morris spoke at our Friday luncheon. He is widely recognized for delivering the decisive walk-off home run in the ninth inning, securing victory for Louisiana State University in the 1996 College World Series. A graduate of LSU, Morris went on to play professional baseball for the Pittsburgh Pirates, Minnesota Twins, and Detroit Tigers before retiring with a .267 career batting average. After baseball, he returned to his hometown of Alexandria, Louisiana, where he entered the banking industry. Today, he draws on stories from sports, family, and work to inspire audiences with lessons on perseverance, leadership, and resilience. Since my daughter, son-in-law, and grandsons live and breathe baseball, the imagery and talk resonated with me and I suspect the rest of the audience.

Lion BJ Blahnik spoke at our Saturday evening banquet. Diagnosed with retinitis pigmentosa as a child, BJ has spent his life adapting to progressive vision loss. In 2006, he was matched with his first Leader Dog, an experience that gave him renewed independence and vision for the future. Today, through his organization Reach Forward, BJ supports individuals with special needs, encouraging them to pursue courage, adaptation, and growth despite challenges. Joined at the Forum by his Leader Dog Jackson, BJ shared a message of empowerment, resilience, and the transformative impact of Lions' work with Leader Dogs for the Blind. Honestly, I cannot recall the last time I heard such a moving, forceful, dynamic speaker.

Having now had the opportunity to hear our International President A. P. Singh speak several times, I expected an inspirational and forceful message. I was not disappointed. A. P. Singh has been a Lion since 1984 and is a member of the Calcutta Vikas Lions Club in India. As International President, Singh is focused on strengthening membership growth, expanding Lions' humanitarian impact, and championing service that restores sight and improves lives worldwide. Listening carefully, we may also have picked up a few tips on working the casino tables.

Through social media, YouTube, or any other outlet, if you have an opportunity to listen to these presenters, I strongly encourage you to do so. You will not be disappointed.

I had completed the Lions University Bachelors program, so this was the perfect opportunity to attend my first Forum, attend the university's graduation and vacation at the same time. Over 300 Lions were at graduation this year. Are you familiar with Lions University?

Lions University, launched by the USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum in 2015, is a leadership and education program designed to cultivate the next generation of Lions leaders. Its goal is to provide comprehensive learning opportunities that equip members with the knowledge, skills, and confidence to lead at all levels of Lionism — from club service projects to international leadership roles.

The program offers a tiered curriculum modeled after traditional university degrees: Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctorate levels, each focusing on leadership development, organizational skills, service planning, and global Lions initiatives. Participants engage in interactive workshops, leadership labs, and seminars delivered by experienced Lions and professional educators.

Graduates of Lions University emerge not only with practical leadership experience but also a deeper understanding of the Lions' mission: to empower communities, serve those in need, and create sustainable impact worldwide. Annual graduation ceremonies, held at the USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum, celebrate the dedication and achievement of Lions who have committed to this advanced learning path.

Have you thought about advancing within Lions? Assuming various leadership positions? Or just gaining a better understanding of Lionism. Lions University is a wonderful place to start your leadership journey. Signing up is easy at www.lionsuniversity.org.

Courses are completed on your schedule, online, with each course averaging 45-60 minutes in length followed by completing a 10-15 question multiple choice quiz. I have started the Master's program and will have it finished for Memphis. Check it out. Take it for a test drive.

From the personal side, when I say, "road trip," I mean road trip. This was a two-week 3,000 mile trip. I wanted to relive childhood vacation memories and show Kathy things we did on the New Jersey shore in the 1950s and 1960s, and connect with my brother, who was only 75 miles north of Atlantic City. I enjoy history, so our stops included the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, Flight 93 Memorial, Valley Forge, Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell, Antietam, and Gettysburg Civil War sites. Seeing other parts of the country always reinforces to me how blessed we are in the Midwest. I'm glad to be home.

USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum

Tony and I have just returned from the USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum in Atlantic City, New Jersey. Wow, what an amazing leadership conference! I want to start off with a quote from the Forum, “You do not need a title, a badge, or a hat to be a leader. Lead by example and let your actions inspire others in the community to WANT to follow that example. THAT is true Lions’ leadership!” Anyone in your club can be a leader. It just takes the will, spirit, and initiative to start!

Another favorite quote, “If your not having fun, you are doing it wrong!” I say to my employees that if you are having fun, you will never work a day in your life! Let us enjoy what we do, and the rest will follow.

One of my favorite things to do at any Lions event is to meet new Lions and reminisce with my Lion friends. During our time at the Forum, we caught up with BJ Blahnik and his wife Victoria. Tony and I first met BJ when we visited the Leader Dogs for the Blind campus in Rochester Hills, Michigan. BJ touched both of our hearts with his personal success story. I had asked him to come to Iowa to inspire other Lions and share his story at our 9NC District Convention. Well, that sparked an invitation from the USA/Canada Forum committee to speak at the Forum. Did you know his dream was to speak at a USA/Canada Forum? Well, we certainly did not. You never know when you might help someone achieve their greatness. We are truly proud of BJ and his family for sharing their story to help others. BJ profoundly changed our perspective of what it was like to be blind!

Another thing I enjoy at the Forum is to visit the vendor booths. Tony was interested in the new vision screening cameras. As you know, Iowa is leading the nation with the Iowa Lions Eye Bank and Iowa KidSight screenings. Unfortunately, our equipment has become old and technologically obsolete. We were extremely excited to evaluate the latest technology for vision screening. This new equipment is simple, fast, and easy to use.

Let us talk about the seminars. We thought it would be helpful if we received technical training. Tony and I went to a video marketing session where we learned about the Stack Team App, a free app which allows organizations to improve communications by creating their own smartphone app. We also learned about different social media platforms and how to market our clubs using them. One great tip is to go to lionsvital.org and use the Lions Market 2 Grow tool to convert club service reports into shareable media stories.

Lastly, coming soon to our clubs: A Ball for All. What is the goal? We would like to raise money to purchase these unique balls made specifically for children who are blind or visually impaired. This ball is different from all the rest because it is a patented ball that rattles when it moves. There are an estimated one million children in the USA and Canada who are visually impaired or blind. Wouldn't it be great to contribute and help reach A Ball for All's goal for each kid to have one? Please contact me for information if your club is interested in this project.

September was a busy month! With over 900 miles on my little red pickup, I visited clubs in Nashua, Cascade, La Porte City, Denver, and wrapped up with a great stop in Decorah. Every visit reminded me how proud I am of our district—9NE Lions are doing amazing service!

To keep that spirit strong, we need more helping hands. My goal is to increase membership by 20 new Lions this year. Remember, new members rarely just show up—they join because someone JUST ASKS them! Invite friends, family, or coworkers to help with a service project or fundraiser and show them what Lions do for our communities and beyond.

October is already filling up with club visits, and 1st VDG Craig Spilde is joining me to connect with more clubs. I also attended the MD9 Council Meeting in Grimes and enjoyed the YIP-YO Palooza in Audubon—plans are underway for another one in eastern Iowa next spring.

Joint Convention

Saturday, Nov. 15 is the day you'll want to be there! Our District 9NE Convention is teaming up with District 9NC for one incredible celebration of Lionism!

We're thrilled to welcome Past International President Brian Sheehan — a true ball of energy and inspiration! Brian has a way of lighting up the room and reminding every Lion why we do what we do. I've had the privilege of hearing him speak four times, and each time he's reignited my passion for being a Lion.

So mark your calendars, grab your fellow Lions, and plan to join us for a day filled with fellowship, fun, and fiery enthusiasm for service.

You won't want to miss this one!

Fall weather is finally upon us and harvest is really moving along fast. Talking about a fast harvest, two 12-row combines pulled into the field beside our house around 10:30 this morning and before the afternoon is over, 120 acres of corn will have been combined. Wow, way different than the two row picker that I ran as a kid.

Club visits are well under way and it has been a pleasure reconnecting with the clubs and their members again. As I was going over my visits for this week, I noticed that two of the clubs have been providing service within their communities for 104 years. What a legacy they have within their communities. Another club I'm visiting this week is on their 8th year of service and are laying down the groundwork for a lasting legacy in just the short time they have been Lions.

But we can't just rest on our past laurels, we need to be pressing forward in this ever changing world. Many needs have been met in the past but there are many more needs today and in the future. We need to take Mission 1.5 very seriously and increase our membership so we can meet these new needs and challenges.

As we look forward to more service, there are many opportunities coming through our Lions service. World Diabetes Day is Nov. 14, Jan. 3-11 is Lions World of Service Hunger Week and Feb. 15 is International Childhood Cancer Day. How can you and your club make a difference during these service days?

Save the dates of March 20-21 for the 9SE-9EC Combined District Convention at Camp Tanager in Mount Vernon. International Director Melissa Washburn from Carlsbad, New Mexico, will be our guest for the weekend. Come and have a great time with Lions from both districts. The registration form for this can be found on the next page.

Hello 9MC Lions. I hope you all are in good health going into the fall season. I have been staying busy with Lions and my pest control business.

Since I have been district governor, I have had the pleasure of being invited to three clubs: Prairie City, Nevada, and Traer. It was my pleasure to attend a meeting with them and have a fun time at all three clubs. I got a kick out of President Lion Bruce at Traer. His thought was to have me there now with good weather rather than wait until it is cold and snowy. He claims the snow drifts a lot there and it would be bad driving, but I was thinking he was thinking let's get this guy here now so if he did come later when the weather is snowy, that I might get snowed in there and he would have to put up with me. Ha-ha.

I do hope more clubs do invite me to their clubs for a visit. Really, I don't try to tell you what to do, I just listen. Well, I might comment on some things. The main things I like to see in a club meeting is that everyone is having fun. I know sometimes it does make the meeting run longer but the end result is much more rewarding.

Since this newsletter is late again, I can report on the 9MC cabinet meeting that was held on Oct. 11. I have been asking clubs to get someone to this meeting if the president or secretary could not be there. We did have a few clubs attend, and I thank them for this. The cabinet meeting is mainly to make sure 9MC is running smoothly. On the other hand, this is where clubs can get answers to their questions and suggest ideas for our district to become better. The Lions that are on the cabinet have been Lions for years and that means there is a lot of knowledge there to be had. Yes, I know that we are not living in the past on knowledge but use it as a foundation, then take your new ideas and build on their foundation. This is what we do. This is called GETTING IN STEP.

I have been asking clubs to start visiting other clubs at one of their meetings or inviting a club to your club meeting. I haven't heard of any of this going on yet, so I don't think it is happening, but wished it would. We talked about this at the cabinet meeting some. I think we could break it down to the zones in our district and make it some type of competition between zones, but I need ideas for this. We can get this going now and then report how it is going at the district convention on March 6-7, then judge at the last cabinet meeting of 2025-2026 year. Let's have some fun with this. Email me some ideas.

I am going to ask for anyone to help me with clubs that have closed to get a new club going in that area again, or help with ones that are having issues. This will take some time and some travel but we need this to happen. We have one club now that will close, but I think it could be kept going with some recruitment. I can hear you as your reading this asking, "Why should I work at another club out on recruiting members when my club needs members?" And you are right, then you might be one of those clubs that needs some outside help. Just remember working together makes a strong district. Oh yes, I think it is also called GETTING IN STEP.

Net Gain Awards: I received in the mail from Immediate Past International President Fabricio Oliveira the Net Gain Award certificates to present to the immediate past club presidents from five clubs in 9SW: Dennis Cheers from Afton Lions, Ryan England from Diagonal Lions, Brad Binning from Grand River Lions, Chris Kuhn from Greenfield Lions, and Christine Petersen from Harlan Lions. This award is for maintaining a club with 20 or more members while retaining all current members in 2024-2025.

The zone chairs are in the process of planning their fall zone meetings. Please watch for the upcoming dates in Constant Contact.

Recruiting New Members: The word membership begins with ME. All members should be recruiting members for your Lions club. The following steps can help you start the conversation with potential new members.

Step 1: Just ask: A personal invitation is one of the most effective ways to bring in new members. Identify friends, family, colleagues, or neighbors you feel comfortable inviting. You know who would make great Lions — so just ask!

Step 2: Advocate for your club: Share personal stories about the difference your club makes in the community. Enthusiasm is contagious!

Step 3: Meaningful conversations about Lions: It is important to have a meaningful conversation about how they can make a difference by joining Lions. Listen to their interests and connect them with service projects that align with their passions.

Step 4: Promote service on social media: Share your club's activities on social media and post photos from service projects. Encourage club members to share posts.

Marketing is essential: Marketing your club and the service it does is a great way to let your community know what you're all about and garner interest in your club. Another way is to develop a brochure about your club to share with potential members.

In the month of September, I attended the MD 9 YIP-YO Growth Palooza. This event was held on Sept. 27 at Audubon High School in Audubon. All Lions in the state were invited to attend this Iowa motivational meeting, which was free to all in attendance. Everyone was treated to coffee, snacks and free lunch. This event featured Lions Servant Heroes. Past International President Brian Sheehan spoke about membership, service and more. Past International Director Bruce Beck shared his thoughts on leadership, retention and adding members to clubs. Constitutional Area 1 Coordinator Jay Norby informed us about building new clubs, including branch clubs. Past International Director Lee Vrieze talked about the Lion Portal and Council Chair Denise Laudenbach talked about Leadership.

The Lions in attendance had the option of choosing which sessions they wanted to attend. In my opinion this was a great success. It was well attended, motivational and had great fellowship as well.

Now that the month of November has arrived, let us take time to remember on Nov. 11 the men and women who served in our military services.

Everybody take time to celebrate and give thanks with your family and friends on Thanksgiving Day. Happy Thanksgiving to you and your families.

By 9SW DG Beverly Fletcher

On Saturday, Sept. 27, 2025, Lions from around the state of Iowa met the Lion Servant Heroes for the first ever MD9 Yip-Yo Growth Palooza. Past International President Brian Sheehan spoke about membership. Past International Director Bruce Beck shared his thoughts on service and LCIF. Constitutional Area 1 Coordinator Jay Norby informed Lions about building new and specialty clubs. Past International Director Lee Vrieze helped Lions with the Portal. Past Council Chair Denise Laudenbach taught leadership strategies. This was a first of its kind presentation for 86 Iowa Lions and three Nebraska Lions to provide a specialized rally with experienced Lion leaders on a local basis to invigorate our Lions Clubs across America.

Lions were brought together to find ways to stimulate clubs to:

- 1) Make Lions Clubs more interesting and attract new and younger members.
- 2) Activate the spirit within us to culture meaningful and productive service projects and donations to our LCIF.
- 3) Provide a proven path and assistance for creating more clubs within our state to serve the public.
- 4) Assist the secretaries and service chairs to more easily complete the service activities report and manage membership accounts and create special reports within the Lion Portal application.
- 5) Encourage the silent leaders of the clubs to make themselves visible and expand their clubs.

Plans are being made for another rally in August 2026.

Iowa Lions Eye Bank Celebrates 70th Anniversary at Strikes for Sight

*By Francie Williamson
Iowa Lions Eye Bank*

In 1955, Iowa Lions Eye Bank was established in a small office at University of Iowa Health Care. For the past 70 years, ILEB staffers have worked tirelessly to restore and preserve sight.

On Saturday, Sept. 13, that legacy was celebrated during the Strikes for Sight fundraiser at Colonial Lanes in Iowa City.

Attendees included a man who gave his late wife's corneas so that others could see, grateful family members of a transplant recipient, a corneal surgeon who's restored vision with his own hands, and Iowa Lions, whose support has spanned generations.

As music from the 1950s, courtesy of Star Entertainment, filled the air, guests bowled, played miniature golf, and enjoyed complimentary food and drinks.

Perhaps the most eye-opening moment came during the seventh frame. That's when participants were handed glasses that resembled 3D spectacles and asked to don them and bowl. Suddenly, everything blurred. The lane became a foggy tunnel, and the pins dissolved into a soft haze. It was a powerful simulation of Fuchs Dystrophy, a degenerative corneal disorder that leads to corneal blindness.

Over in the mini golf area, when they reached the seventh and 17th hole, attendees again donned the special glasses to attempt golfing with a simulated case of Fuchs Dystrophy.

Iowa Lions Eye Bank is deeply grateful to everyone who attended, shared their stories, and supported the event. Thanks to their generosity, funds raised will help sustain Iowa Lions Eye Bank's vital operations, ensuring that sight-saving work continues for decades to come.

This event was made possible by a dedicated group of sponsors and supporters, including the West Branch Lions, Wolfe Eye Clinic, Yeager Ocular Prosthetics, Riverside Casino, the University of Iowa Center for Advancement, Dr. Mark Greiner, George Rickey, Beth Kirkevold, and ImpactLife. Special thanks to members of the University of Iowa chapter of Student Organ Donation Advocates (SODA) and ILEB staff for helping make this event a success.
